We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine, which renders it superior to any other in use

It runs a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear;

It is entirely noiseless;

A patented device prevents its being turned backward;

The needle cannot be set wrong;

Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;

It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1863 For particulars enquire of

THE MISSISSIPPI STYLE OF UNION CONGRESSMEN.—It is said that in Virginia and North Carolina Union men generally have been elected to Congress. In Mississippi, however, a delegation has just been elected, not one of whom can take the oath, and what is more, the question was discussed beforehand and the election made in open defiance of the prohibition. Brig Gen A E Reynolds, of Tishomingo, elected in the northern district, was a Colonel at Donnelson and a General at Vicksburg, taken prisoner both times, was "chewed up" in the war and resigned; then ran for the Confederate Congress against citizen Singleton and was beaten, and now a citizen running against him, will need an affidavit to prove he was running at all. Another rebel Brigadier, A M West, is overwhelmingly elected in the Vicksburg and Jackson district. The other gentlemen elected are R. A. Pinson of Pontotoc, James T Harrison of Lowndes, and E G Peyton of Copiah. So far from being able to swear that they have not borne arms, it is their pride that they did, and they were elected because they did. Charles E Hooker advertised himself as a "one armed soldier from the rebel army" and is elected Attorney General by at least four to one, over Richard Cooper, a prominent lawyer, who had been invited by the Convention to become one of Jeff Davis's counsel. The election of Gen. Humphreys as Governor is even more significant. The Convention had nominated Judge Fisher, late of the Court of Appeals, but Col. Partridge, of the Vicksburg Herald, brought out Humphreys, and advocated on the ground of personal service in the war, from the first gun until the final surrender. Col. Partridge was himself a candidate for city Representative from Vicksburg. In an evil hour he endorsed the dogma of Chief Justice Handy (a candidate for the Court of Appeals), that negroes were competent witnesses, and he was so badly beaten that he won't print the vote. The Jackson News, rejoicing in the overwhelming defeat of Handy, puts up a big gun and says: "Let all the advocates of negro equality before the judicial tribunals of the country take warning.

INTERESTING FORTHCOMING DOCUMENTS.—Among the more important reports concerning the late war that will be brought to the notice of the next Congress is one now in rapid progress of completion at the headquarters of the Commissioner of Prisons. The report will be ready in about six weeks, and will present a most accurate and remarkable resume of the captivity of Federal and rebel soldiers and all essential matters pertaining to their imprisonment. In anticipation of this important document we may state the following: The principal depots for the Government prisons during the late war were located at Point Lookout, Johnson's Island, Alton, Elmira, Chicago, Nashville, St Louis and Fort Delaware. These prisons, during the summer of 1864, contained more prisoners than at any other period of the rebellion, the captives numbering between 75,000 and 80,000 men. The report in question will show the number of prisoners taken on both sides was in the aggregate fully up to 500,000, and will give in accurate numbers the strength of the Southern armies at the time of their parolment and disbanding last spring. It will also indicate the number exchanged, enlisted on the side of the enemy, died, escaped and took the oath of allegiance, with a list of men dying in Southern prisons. The business now being transacted by this bureau is almost incredible. Besides the vast amount of clerical labor required to perfect the records before the report of its operations can be completed, it has also to render certificates of the Governments' indebtedness to each Union soldier upon its rolls, the War Department having allowed all such commutation of rations at the rate of 25 cents per day during the period of their confinement, also three months extra pay to all who were not released previous to the 30th of May last. These certificates are collectable of any commissary of subsistence in the country. We are authorized to state, in this connection, that discharged soldiers who entrust their claims of this nature to the agents of the Sanitary Commission and State agents will be paid in checks upon Government depositories. Those making applications for commutations of rations in person should apply directly to the Commissary General of Prisoners.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—The Court of Appeals of the State of New York has decided that shares in National Banks are taxable by State and local authorities, although the entire capital of the banks be invested in National securities. All the Judges concurred in the decision. The question will now be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States for decisive disposition.

About the middle of September Government began to permit shipments of guns, powder, shot and percussion caps to the South. The aggregates of shipments of these articles from New York to Southern ports for four weeks, are as follows: Powder, 91,031 pounds; shot, 670,467; percussion caps, 2,894,844; guns, 871.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

SATURDAY MORNING DECEMBER 2, 1865

Danger Still Imminent

A class of men who style themselves "conservatives" having exerted their power to the utmost for four years to prevent disloyal men from being dealt with as severely as they deserve, are now loudly complaining that many leading Unionists—called Radicals by way of reproach—do not want the rebel States restored to their lost position, or civil government to resume its sway in the South. Now, every candid person must perceive that it is not the purpose of the Radicals to keep the Southern States in such a condition that they cannot exercise their functions, but that the true patriotic idea is to hold them in proper subordination until they can be restored on a basis of actual not hypocritical loyalty. Not a man in the North wishes to deprive the South of the exercise of full constitutional rights a moment longer than is necessary to secure the public peace and safety. But it is very apparent that the time is not yet come when that still disloyal people can, without danger to the country, be permitted to possess the rights and wield the full powers of citizens. Let us take a glance at the situation of things in the South as we find them to day.

How is it with Alabama? That State has lately elected a full Congressional delegation, all of whom are disloyal. There is not a person among them who was not chosen because of his services in the cause of the rebellion. It is doubtful whether a single one of them can take the oath which Congress requires. Union men in Alabama are excluded from participating in political affairs and are even persecuted with violence because they did not aid the rebel cause. The newspapers declare, and the people iterate the sentiment that those who did not go with the rebellion are not fit to be trusted now. "Conservatives" even, can hardly insist that this a very healthy and promising species of loyalty.

With Virginia it is the same as with Alabama. Half the Congressmen elect cannot take the necessary oath. The presence of troops is needed to keep the inhabitants in any sort of subjection. The savage ferocity with which ignorant prejudice always regards free negroes, is manifested to an unusual degree in Virginia. Were the troops withdrawn from that State the blacks would not remain free one month, nor would there be any security whatever for the lives of Northern men. In North Carolina it is much the same way. That State has undoubtedly elected a secession Governor. Not long ago Kenneth Raynor wrote that it was the fixed purpose of the North Carolinians to exterminate the black race. The Government must protect these helpless people. Now that it has granted them their freedom, this also is a thing which it is morally obliged to do. The negroes are loyal, the whites are disloyal. The Government can not afford to sacrifice the former to soften the prejudices of the latter.

Both Mississippi and South Carolina have elected rebel Governors. Humphreys of the former State is a rebel General; Orr of the latter was a member of Jeff. Davis' Congress. Humphreys has entered upon his duties, though not yet pardoned. His Legislature is composed of such men as himself. One of their latest acts is to pass a law preventing negroes from testifying in the Courts against white men, even in cases where the rights of the former are invaded by the latter class.

Nothing has yet been done to restore Texas to her former relations with the Government. That State, as a consequence has been more peaceable than any other. Unlike the other Provisional Governors, A. J. Hamilton is in no hurry to confer upon a rebellious people the rights which, while they possessed, they so flagrantly abused. It is to be remembered that Gov. Hamilton is the only man among the Provisional Governors whose loyalty is unimpeachable. This accounts for his having proceeded differently from all the rest.

From all appearances, there is scarcely such a virtue as loyalty among the people of any portion of the South. At any rate they have not yet been on a sufficiently long probation. They beseech each other not to forget that they have been Confederates and that they have lost dear friends in battling for "Southern rights." They denounce as renegades and traitors to Southern principles all men who ask them to bury their treasonable record and atone for their wrong by acts of loyalty hereafter. In this way there is a mutual incitement to further contumacy, and nothing like complete submission to authority. It behooves the North which has gained victory at so fearful a cost, to beware how she imperils the national cause by placing power in such dangerous hands. There are Union men enough in the South to manage her civil affairs, and it should be the policy of the Government to invest them with political power rather than to permit rebels to regain the highest places in the State and national councils.

THE "POORMAN" LODE.—Of all silver lodes ever yet discovered, the "Poorman" at Owyhee, easily bears off the palm. In the history of silver mining, neither Mexico nor Peru furnishes anything which may be successfully compared with it. The ore contains from thirty to eighty and even ninety per cent of pure metal. The ledge was discovered by D. C. O'Byrne on the 13th of September 1865. Its course is northwest and southeast. It has a slight dip toward the west. The vein stone has already been extracted for a distance of one hundred and thirty two feet. So far, it has been worked only ten feet in depth. The average width of the lode is two feet two inches. The casing found by the overhanging rock is of talcose schist; the wall rock is granite. The vein stone is much decomposed. The ores of silver which are found in the lode are silver glance, kerargyrite, the sulphurets and the chlorides, the last of which is much more common than any other form in which silver exists in the rock. These chlorides appear in the lode in every form known to mineralogists. The value of the ledge is beyond all power of calculation.

Work on the lode has been for some time suspended on account of conflicting claims between several parties. The owners of another ledge at some little distance, claim that the "Poorman" is identical with their own, and hence have enjoined the discoverers from working it. From the best information we can obtain, we think it scarcely possible that the ledges are the same. Certainly there is no resemblance between the specimens of ore which have been shown us from each. But however that may be, the stake is great and worth contending for.

SUBSCRIPTIONS.—During the session of the Legislature Mr. Pittock may be found at the office of the Agriculturist and Plowman in Salem. Those who desire to become subscribers or renew subscriptions for the DAILY or WEEKLY OREGONIAN may have an opportunity to do so, by calling upon him at the place above named.

THE STATE PRINTING.—The paper for completing the State Printing reached San Francisco some days ago and will arrive here by the Sierra Nevada, due by the middle of the coming week. The State work will be resumed and completed without delay.

The late storm was very severe in California. Nearly all the streams rose to a greater height than they had attained during the last four years. The damages by high water in some portions of the State have been considerable. Several persons are reported drowned.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, October 14th, 1865.

THE MEETING OF CONGRESS

In December is anticipated with much interest. The coming Session is expected to be the most important and exciting which has been held for many years. The questions to be brought before it will cause its proceedings to be watched with eagerness by all classes. In such a state of things it is of the utmost consequence that the ablest and strongest men should be chosen in those districts which have not selected their representatives.

A MAMMOTH HOTEL

We are to have commensurate with the vast demands of this metropolis a mammoth hotel. It has been a little surprising that some one of our enterprising hosts who so well know the wants and requirements of our traveling public has not long before this conceived the idea which is now to be carried out near the Central Park, of a hotel which would in a twelvemonth have to be extended by taking in and refitting two or three adjoining buildings. Hardly an hotel has been erected in this city during the past ten years but has had to be enlarged to accommodate increasing patronage. This is partly owing to the large number of resident New Yorkers who have come to the conclusion that boarding at a hotel is much cheaper, and far less troublesome than keeping up a fashionable residence.

I know an enterprising and popular gentleman of this city, who, a year since, forsook his magnificent residence in one of the most fashionable up town neighborhoods and took a suite of rooms at one of our hotels, letting house (furnished) for an annual rental which exceeds his board bill by over one thousand dollars per annum. By this mode he escapes all the bother of house servants and, more than all, does not have to keep a sort of private hotel for hundreds of country friends and relatives, who invariably made it their home for weeks when on business or visiting here. Some of our hotels are exclusively occupied by families like the Gramercy Park Hotel, and nearly all have their best rooms monopolized by them but the mammoth and prodigious affair projected will cover some six acres, and will be of sufficient capacity to accommodate over five hundred families and a thousand transient guests. One of the features will be an immense stable where carriages can be obtained for drives on the Park at rates much below those charged by thieving Jehus which now infest the beauty spot of New York. Cranston, who is considered one of the best hotel keepers on this Continent is the projector of this great enterprise. New York is nothing unless it is B I G you know, consequently we must have the biggest hotel as well as the biggest swindlers that can be procured. Two millions of dollars is the sum,—the money is ready—the ground is already bought and paid for—and the pick and shovel are already at work getting the earth ready for the foundation.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES

Of low prices are kept in the background with wonderful pertinacity. As the late war progressed and prices crept up and up the efforts to secure volunteers were increased so as to stop the war as soon as possible and put an end to this "upward tendency" in prices. Thus thousands of our soldiers went into the field as much to fight for their "bread and butter" at low prices as to maintain the Union. This assertion, I hope, carries with it no reflection upon the patriotism of our gallant soldiers. The man who will expose his life so that his wife and children may have a sufficiency of food and raiment is deserving of credit as well as he who goes to war to protect, sustain and perpetuate his Government. The war is ended but "high prices" and the "upward tendency" of them still prevail. Flour sixteen dollars per barrel, butter sixty cents per pound, meats from twenty to thirty-five cents per pound, coal thirteen dollars per ton, and rents—well, they are anywhere beyond the reach of any one's means. There is no one can afford to pay the prices charged for rents. Owing to the high prices of provisions, people subsist on "half and quarter rations," as they used to say during the war, and owing to high rents those half and quarter rations are reduced again to quarter and one-eighth rations. It is only the other day that people commenced congratulating themselves upon the prospect of again indulging in new cotton wear, cotton was piling up to such an extravagant extent in our city. A walk anywhere about the lower part of the city would bring one in contact with bales of this staple. There was cotton to the right, cotton to the left, cotton in front and cotton in the rear. There was a perfect glut of cotton, and everybody looked at the quotations each morning to see the price announced at 25 instead of 50 cents per pound. Imagine their surprise, however to see it jump up from 50 to 63 cents. Dealers in manufactured goods, who had been trembling behind their counters in fear that they would be obliged to lower their prices to "below cost," were not content to stand "as you were," but jumped their prices up at one bound ten and twenty cents per yard. About the same time gold took a notion to creep up two or three per cent, and finally got up to 149 and a fraction. Those who had gold to sell thought it a good time to "realize," and among those, those was Government, who "threw upon the market" a half million. Now half a million weighs something, more or less and the quotations gravitated materially at once. Down they went to 145 and a fraction. These operations took place so quick that dealers in produce did not get information of the rise before the fall took place. But they took no note of the fall. They have taken no note of it yet, though it is now a week ago. They did note the rise, however, and at once jumped their prices up 12 per cent! Now, we were told the war caused these high prices. Thousands of men volunteered and went to the battle field to put down both the rebellion and high prices at one and the same time. The rebellion was put down, but high prices still stand as defiant as ever. Economists have for centuries contended that prices were governed by the laws of supply and demand. The fallacy of this claim is clearly settled by our present experience. According to the theory of these economists there must be a limited supply and an excessive demand to produce these high prices. Is the supply of cotton small and the demand excessive? Try and walk ten rods in the lower part of the city without running against huge piles of bales and ask anybody how he is off for cotton wear and whether he contemplates replenishing his stock. The same with regard to provisions. The markets are overflowing but our tables are not. Everybody is retrenching in wearing apparel and food. What, then, becomes of the theory of supply and demand?

A GREAT TROTTING FEAT

Was performed over the Fashion Course yesterday. It will be recollected Flora Temple made the unprecedented time of 2 19¾ in harness to Butler's 2 21 under the saddle. A bet of $5 000 to $1,000 that Hiram Woodruff's horse Dexter, in trotting a mile, could not beat 2 19 in three trials to go as he pleases, was made and the trial took place yesterday. Dexter appeared under saddle and won at the first attempt in 2 18½, thus beating Flora's best time and taking rank as the fastest trotter in the world.

IRON PIERS AND WAREHOUSES

The inadequacy of the present dock and wharf accommodations of New York, has been a theme with the merchants and ship owners for years. Various plans of improvement have been suggested, but thus far none have been improved, and with slight exceptions nothing has been done to remedy an evil which grows more troublesome with each succeeding year. Some of our steamboat companies have enlarged their wooden piers and erected upon them quite substantial and ornamental wooden buildings, but by far the great majority of the structures are old and dilapidated and seemingly ready to tumble down at the first unusual shaking they may receive. At last however there seems some prospect of an improvement. A company has been chartered by the Legislature in which is represented a large amount of money and influence, with the privilege of building six piers on entirely new principles, which promises to work a wondrous change in our system of wharf structures. The plan is to build piers 500 feet long, and one hundred feet wide, supported on iron tubular columns, permitting a free flow of water under them. The columns will vary from two and a half to six feet in diameter, and are to be filled with Rosendale cement, capable of hardening under water in 20 days to the consistency of granite and should the iron be gradually eaten away by oxydization there would still be left the concrete columns to support the structure. The piers thus supported, are to have erected upon them iron warehouses, two stories high, the first story to be open on all sides and to consist of the floor of the pier, to be used for the discharge of cargoes to be taken away immediately while the upper stories are to be enclosed, provided with hoisting apparatus, and used for the storage of goods. Each pier will thus be crowned with an imposing structure and partitioned off into ten warehouses, each 44 by 96 feet. Each pier will be provided with five powerful steam engines to work the hoisting machines, and also serve the purpose of fire engines to protect the structure, the shipping in the harbor, and the adjacent buildings. The entrances to the piers will be provided with gates to be closed at night, when the piers are to be left in charge of watchmen, and effectually secured against river thieves. The cost of each structure complete is estimated at $825,000, besides the cost of removing the present piers. Under the act passed by the last Legislature [illegible] must be completed in ten years. Of course there must be with these improvements a heavy increase in wharfage rates but the excellence of the piers and their immunity from fires and thieves will more than make the extra expense good. All well wishers of New York will heartily approve the new plan.

NEW THEATRES

While we have a large assortment of theatres each new comer seems to be greeted with a warm and remunerative welcome. New York grows so rapidly that there is always a field for new enterprises of this kind. Those we have are thronged nightly and yet, some time since, I mentioned that Mr. Pike proposed to build a new opera house uptown. The project has advanced no further that I can learn, but is still contemplated and the opening of next spring will probably see the commencement of the edifice. Other parties are in the field with their plans for new theatres. Mr. Avery Smith, the largest circus proprietor in the United States, has purchased Rev. Mr. Chapin's church on Broadway, with the adjoining property on Crosby street, for the purpose of building upon the site an equestrian theatre on the plan of the London Astley's. It will be much larger than the latter and it is expected will excel it in other respects. The price paid down for the property was $110,000. Barney Williams and others have leased a lot to build a new theatre in the vicinity of Union Square, and Barney who has put $50,000 into the enterprise will it is supposed take control of the new establishment. The Hippotheatron on Fourteenth street has been sold to Mr. J. H. Lent the popular circus manager, for $56,000.

EMIGRATION TO THE SOUTH

Continues to a considerable extent. Among the means to that end is the formation of the American Land Company and Agency with Governor Andrews of Massachusetts as President, Colonel Frank E. Howe Vice President, and General Agent Worth and several other well known men as trustees, etc. Offices have been established at No. 57 Broadway, where information and statistics of importance to the public will be collected and preserved in such a state as to be accessible and clear to all. The Company, in the words of its prospectus, "proposes to interest the enterprise and money of the country in the opportunities and means for the useful and profitable employment afforded by the broad lands of the South, now open for the first time to free labor."

NORTH CAROLINA

Was one of the first in the field to invite emigrants from the North, and has already secured a large number. I learn that thirty thousand acres of land in that State have been sold to an Emigration Company, the contract for which contains a proviso to the effect that the land must be subdivided into lots of one hundred acres each, and on these tracts families will be induced to settle. This scheme alone is said to guarantee three hundred families as a permanent addition to the producing population of North Carolina.

REV. DR. CHAPIN'S

New church on Fifth Avenue and 45 A street, has been commenced. The corner stone of the church of Divine Paternity was laid only a few days since. It is to be one hundred feet square, and will be of the plain gothic style of architecture. The ground cost $50,000, and the building will involve an additional expense of $25,000. The church will accommodate 1,600 persons.

THE STORY OF SEVENTY MILLIONS

Among the new books in print is one by Frank B. Goodrich, giving a full history of the manner in which the magnificent sum of seventy millions of dollars was raised and spent for benevolent purposes during the rebellion. The work is handsomely got up and contains 147 fine engravings, and is in addition to its historical accounts of the operations of the Sanitary Societies, a great roll of honor, embracing the names of those who contributed to gather the money, and who directed their distribution. The book is a valuable addition to the chronicles of the war.

OUR CITY OFFICIALS

Who were concerned in the alleged street cleaning commission swindle have been examined within a week or two before Governor Fenton, but if there was anything wrong about the transactions their tracks had been so well covered that nothing culpable could be made out against them. By the way nominations are now being made for the various judicial offices in this city to be voted for at the State election in November.

THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY

Celebrates the fiftieth year of its existence by what is called "Jubilee Year." A series of discourses are to be delivered by a large number of eminent clergymen of this city and vicinity. Rev Dr Adams delivers the opening sermon this evening, subject, "the advantages of written revelation." Bishop Simpson, Rev. Dr. Vermilye, Rev Dr Storrs, Rev Dr Vinton, Rev Dr Williams, Rev Dr Hodge and Rev Dr Ferris are also to preach on different occasions and in various churches.

VISITORS

Seem to come to this city in clouds —we are like the stage coach in which Charles Lamb once took passage, "all full,"—hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, lodging houses, aye and shanties! We have the delegates from Hoosierdom here laying in stocks for their winter trade, which they euphoniously call "truck," their pocketbooks apparently well filled with greenbacks;—we have the Eastern merchant here, replenishing his stock with goods which he will soon advertise "right fresh from New York" (parenthetically—most of them manufactured within a few miles of his own town,) and he congratulates himself on his bargains as he strokes his sleek sides while engaging his stateroom two days ahead on the Newport line,—we have the Southern merchant and factors here in large numbers who all have returned home after purchasing extremely gratified to find that

SOUTHERN CREDIT

Is still good for three months, which is about the extent of any credit given to anybody now a days. Apropos of Southern credit, a man from Charleston arrived here a few days since, for the first time since 1861. He made a few enquiries around town, and found that a certain sum of money in one of the banks had not been "confiscated" as the Yorkies say, amounting at the time it was deposited to some fifteen thousand dollars. On application at the bank and proving his identity (for Gilmore's shells had turned his hair grey by burning up two large buildings of his, besides his fine residence in that city,) he drew his pile! He made some heavy purchases, determining to start anew again, but finding he was short about five thousand dollars, applied to a leading house "for a little time." What was his astonishment on being told he could have whatever he wanted and on his own time, too. He has gone back to Charleston and says if trade keeps half as good as it has opened he will soon be as well off as before the "cursed war." This is probably the best way to reconstruct.

AN INSANE CORRESPONDENT.

Decidedly one of the most unique cases I have met with of late is that of a man named D. Stoltifer Moulton, formerly the New York correspondent of the Boston Traveller. He styles himself "Stoltifer the King, Reigning Prince of the House of David and Guardian of American Destiny." Of fine appearance and good address few would in ordinary conversation suspect his insanity. Stoltifer ran up board bills at the various hotels, and when asked to pay would promise to do so when his claim of $3,000,000 against the General Government was settled. He addressed letters to the French, British, Austrian and Italian Ministers on various subjects, applied to August Belmont for the loan of half a million on his order against the Government, addressed the President, Governor and Mayor in relation to the indignities practiced upon him, (such as his ejection from churches where he made himself and the congregation ridiculous), notified Greely, Raymond and Bennett that he would soon start a first class daily in this city, etc. He was finally arrested and sent to the lunatic asylum.

MOUNT HOOD

Probably one of the most wonderful specimens of art now extant is Bierstadt's Mount Hood, now on exhibition in Boston. Of course it is unnecessary to describe the mountain to your readers. But the painting is the most attractive which had been brought before the public for a long time. It was taken from a point twenty five miles distant on the Columbia river which on the side selected by the artist for his picture forms quite a bay. Dog River fall is seen on the opposite bank near the centre of the picture. The crater of the mountain (which we now hear is in a state of eruption) is shown issuing a small column of steam. The season is early autumn and the time of day morning, sun at about half an hour high. The summit is represented as covered with snow. Two other mountains are in the background, one dimly seen through the haze and the other nearer and more distinct. The foreground consists of a rich verdant plain, flowing river, and lesser hills of strong or graceful outlines. The simplicity of the composition adds to the grandeur of its effect. The painting grows upon the spectator the longer he studies it. It is almost worth a journey from the Pacific to witness. I learn that the picture is insured for $15,000.

Wages in Montana during the past summer and fall have usually been as high as twelve dollars per day.

Judge Terry, the man who killed Broderick, has settled after many years of wanderings on a ranch in Mexico near San Blas.

DATES TO NOVEMBER 22.

European Intelligence.

The [illegible] the [illegible] of the American [illegible] it has been, since the arrival [illegible] with the [illegible] that [illegible] engaged [illegible] the Shenandoah [illegible] some [illegible] of the authorities have been communicated with, and [illegible] of the vessel may be expected [illegible]

The French Government [illegible] against the Opinion Nationale for [illegible] about Mexico calculated to disturb the public peace.

The Times continues to disparage the Russell Cabinet, and says it would not [illegible] there must be an interval of partial disorganization after which the Cabinet will [illegible] strengthening its [illegible] The issue depends upon themselves [illegible] upon the boldness and wisdom of their [illegible] in their aptitude in assimilating to themselves the [illegible] which lie at of them.

Meetings have been held in Manchester and Paris in aid of the emancipated negroes in the United States.

New York, Nov. 22.—The steamship [illegible] from Liverpool the 11th and Queenstown the 12th, has arrived.

The pirate Shenandoah has been handed over to the United States Consul and will be sent to New York. Her Captain and crew were [illegible] discharged.

Additional correspondence between Minister Adams and Earl Russell has been published. The latter says that every representation [illegible] American Minister was immediately considered and properly referred to the law officers.

The London supplement to the Gazette contains further additional correspondence between Mr. Adams and Earl Russell, relative to the departure of cruisers for the rebels from England. Earl Russell repeats the argument that the British Government acted upon precedent, and presents memoranda showing that steps were taken to prevent and punish breaches of neutrality.

The London Times says: It is impossible for the American Government to abandon the claims for the depredations of the Alabama, but it is quite possible for a Government to yield nothing, yet do nothing. We must prepare to be told that the United States Government will abate no jot of its demands, and will reserve the right of enforcing them, but still, when the temper of the people is calmed, when commerce has renewed the links, there will be little disposition to dwell upon unavoidable difficulties.

Capt. Waddell in his letter to Earl Russell, which is now published, says: "In obedience to orders I found myself in the Arctic and Ochotsk seas, far from ordinary channels of commerce, and in consequence of this awkward circumstance was engaged in acts of war until the 28th of June. I was ignorant of the reverse suffered by the Confederates and the total obliteration of the government under which I acted. I received the first news of the downfall of the Confederates on the 2d of August, from the British bark Barracouta, and desisted immediately from acts of war till I could communicate with European ports, and learn if the news was true. I could not have been sensible that the tales told by the American ships were true, but merely upon the statement of the British Captain, I diligently sought for precedent in law for guidance in the future control and final disposal of the vessel, but found none."

Finding the authority questionable under which he acted, he ceased cruising and shaped his course for the Atlantic. He did not feel justified in destroying vessels, but on the contrary, thought the ship should revert to the American Government. He therefore sought Liverpool to learn the news, and if with foundation, to surrender the ship, with guns, stores and apparel complete, to the British Government, for disposition as it should deem proper.

The Shenandoah was surrendered to the American Consul on the 10th, who took formal possession and placed her under Capt. Freeman and a crew of his own selection, to convey the ship to New York.

Not a Subject of Doubt.—The voice of experience is the voice of wisdom. Thousands attest the truth of this saying, after using Nowell's Pulmonary Syrup, by the advice of friends, that had been restored to health and usefulness by means of this invaluable remedy for all Pulmonary affections. Why waste precious moments when it is known that certain relief is within your reach? Try the Syrup and be convinced.

THE ORIGIN OF THE FENIANS.—The Fenian Brotherhood has been in existence for the past eight years. Its founders were two of the Irish exiles of 1848, Col. John O'Mahony and M. [illegible] both of whom are well known in this city. The late General Corcoran was in conjunction with them. O'Mahony was connected with the movement in 1848 and though a mere youth [illegible] the peasantry in the county of Tipperary, where he belonged. The military surrounded and dispersed them and O'Mahony fled to France, where the [illegible] revolutionary organization were formed. After residing in France a few years O'Mahony came to America, where [illegible] he started the Fenian Brotherhood organization. For five years the brotherhood maintained a semi-secret character, spreading rapidly through the United States, Canada and the British provinces, with a regular system of communication.

[illegible] a national convention was held in Chicago and the purpose of the organization was boldly avowed and the spread of the movement was greater than before. The leaders of the Fenians are men who have taken up downright revolution as the business of their lives. O'Mahony, the Head Centre, is acknowledged, even by his enemies, to be highly cultured, of a chivalrous nature and a man of great determination. The State Centres are nearly all wealthy Irish merchants. Many Catholic clergymen are in its ranks, and not very long ago a General McIlroney, President of the Fenian Military Council, went arm in arm with Father Wiget, the Superior of the Jesuits, to head a Fenian procession in Washington. General Meagher is a member, and the late General Smith, of the Union army, was a member of the brotherhood at the time of his death.

GREAT POLITICAL REVOLUTION IN SOUTHERN INDIANA.—The southwestern counties of Indiana have long been known to politicians as the "Pocket" of that State, and the Democracy have had a majority therein about as strong as in Egypt Illinois. They carried those counties for many years, and the "Pocket" was the great citadel of Democracy in Indiana, which was long the most "reliable" Democratic State in the North. But since partisan Democracy became identical with copperheadism a change has passed over the spirit of the people, as an incident will show.

The Hon. Smith Miller, of Gibson county, Indiana, formerly a Democratic member of Congress, had a son, who entered the army early in the war and saw it through. He had the audacity to remain in the neighborhood, and the Republicans of the county had the temerity to nominate him for the office of Clerk of the Court. The election came off on Tuesday last, and, in a county that gave McClellan 240 majority, he was elected by 211 majority, and the Union boys say they can carry the county henceforth and continually without material difficulty.

This is an indication of the affairs in the "Pocket" that may be marked by the political [illegible] in Indiana with interest. The young men have been "educated up" and are almost unanimously intelligent and patriotic, and they are too numerous and strong for the old Copperheads.

Senator Wilson, at a Republican meeting in Philadelphia, lately, said:

A day or two ago I said to President Johnson, there are differences of opinion in regard to negro suffrage. In my St[illegible] are all one way. We are all for security fo[illegible] future. We do not ask any indemnity fo[illegible]ast. There is no indemnity for the 325,0[illegible] heroes who lie under the sod of Southern battle fields.

There is no indemnity for widows and orphans—none! We can forgive their murderers, but we want security that our sons shall not be murdered in the future. We want loyal men to govern America forevermore. I asked the President if he had made any discrimination among the men who elected him on account of their views on suffrage or on reconstruction.

The President said he never had made any such distinctions, and never intended making any in the future—that he was in favor of the freest and fullest discussion of all the questions now arising before us. And so long as we have broad toleration and free discussion, we can go right on, shoulder to shoulder, arguing, discussing and examining these questions that are before us to be solved, and I believe now as I did during the war, that we will solve these questions right, and that our country will come out in the future glorious and free!

UNPUBLISHED LETTER OF MR. LINCOLN.—The Washington Chronicle prints the following note of the late President to Mr. Hackett, the comedian, in relation to newspaper criticism of a previous letter. It is characteristic:

My note to you I certainly did not expect to see in print; yet I have not been much shocked by the newspaper comments upon it. Those comments constitute a fair specimen of what has occurred to me through life. I have endured a great deal of ridicule without much malice, and have received a great deal of kindness, not quite free from ridicule. I am used to it.

Yours, truly, A. LINCOLN

GOOD FOR EXILES.—The emigrants from Missouri (secessionists) says the Grass Valley National, who left for the empire of Brazil some seven or eight months ago, with their negro servants, have been heard from. Forty families are located on a body of land on the Assugny river, a branch of the Sierra Negro, which empties into the Bay of Rio Janeiro. They have comfortable houses in which to reside, a provision and grocery store, a blacksmith shop, a school house, crops of corn, beans and potatoes. The Emperor of Brazil received them kindly, and, by way of encouragement has donated them five hundred milreis a year with which to support a school. Under so wise and just a ruler, nothing is needed but an influx of the best element of the United States, of England or of Europe to build up as mighty an empire and as powerful a government as ever existed on this continent.

A Richmond newspaper correspondent, referring to Henry A. Wise's recent application to be restored to his "rights of property" in Virginia notwithstanding his refusal to take the oath, states that the matter was referred to General Grant, who promptly denied the application, at the same time intimating to the refractory Governor that he must take the oath or make up his mind to a residence very soon in one of the national forts. The Jeff. Davis family in Mississippi go far beyond Wise in their insolent demand upon Government. Recently, Joe Davis, brother to the arch-rebel, demanded the return not only of his own landed property, but that of his brother Jeff also, claiming that the latter really belonged to him, Jeff being only the nominal owner. Joe tells the authorities he will brook no delay in this matter, and that if his demand is refused, he will occupy the property without a permit.

PARDON INCIDENTS.—Many amusing incidents might be recorded of pardon seekers at the White House. Recently, Hilliard, of Georgia, former Minister to Belgium, rushed up to the President, seized his hand, and "hoped his pardon would not be delayed." The President quietly remarked to the ex reverend gentleman that "hope was the reward of the righteous," and vouchsafed no other reply. On another occasion, a rebel of some notoriety raised quite a laugh by saying: "I thank you, Mr. President, for my pardon; I am now a good Union man, an emphatically one of you; but didn't Stonewall Jackson give us hell in the valley?"

Since the execution of Champ Ferguson on the 20th of October, certain parties in Washington who are familiar with the career of Col. Mosby during the war, are interesting themselves with a view to bringing the latter to what they call justice. They allege that Mosby although a rose colored gentlemanly sort of villain, was guilty of guerilla atrocities which would have made Champ Ferguson blush. They claim to have names of ex-rebel officers among the list of witnesses wherewith to prove inhuman crimes upon the Virginia partisan.

The present whereabouts of the rebel Gen. Samuel Cooper seems to be a mystery, which his friends cannot fathom. He left Richmond with Davis and was a companion in the flight of that worthy to the vicinity of Augusta, where he parted with him. At the time Cooper had not a dollar in the world, and his companions, with the exception of Jeff. Davis, were nearly all in the same deplorable condition. He managed to borrow a few coins from some one of his fellow fugitives and, disappearing, has never since been heard from.

NATIONAL MONUMENT.—Responses have been received from Gov. Oglesby to his appeal in behalf of the "National Lincoln Monument Association" from the Governors of Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Connecticut and Maine, all expressing the most hearty concurrence in the object, promising their personal influence, as well as to make it the subject of recommendation to their respective Legislatures.

The New York News sets it down confidently that the crime of infanticide began and grew with Puritanism and that wherever Puritanism flourishes there infanticide prevails. Which reminds the Norwich Bulletin that it is a great pity that the parents of Benjamin and Fernando Wood were not of Puritans.

The recent purchase of the townsite of St. Helens together with the [illegible] by a California stock [illegible] with a capital of $3,000,000 [illegible] Pacific Mail Steamship Company [illegible] the steamers Pacific and America, which brought cargoes to Portland, while the Columbia and other crafts of the P. M. S. S. Company continued the trade to St. Helens.

That St. Helens [illegible] We [illegible]

The [illegible] feature of the week [illegible] and importance of arrivals from the upper Columbia country. During the week we have met and conversed with many [illegible] capital [illegible] Speaking of the [illegible] of the Columbia river with the Pacific Railroad at Great Salt Lake City, the Idaho Statesman says [illegible] is within easy grasp. [illegible] be made by placing a steamboat on Snake river [illegible] between Olds Ferry and Salmon Falls is pertinent to this subject. From Salmon Falls to the head of Salt Lake is 200 miles. By navigating this lake 80 miles of profitable land carriage can be saved. The distance from Olds Ferry to the Columbia river being 175 miles, it is shown that less than 400 miles of land carriage will be found between Portland and Salt Lake. With a railroad over these two portages the whole northern country is directly connected with the Pacific Railroad and the Atlantic States. The following is the concluding paragraph of the Statesman's article on this subject, and it is well worthy of attention when it is taken into consideration that Portland has been made the terminus of the California and Oregon branch of the Pacific Railroad:

"The Blue Mountains are no comparison to the Sierras. To say that Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana Territories will not at [illegible] as large a carrying trade over this line of the [illegible] Nevada and California will over the southern line [illegible] at the present day, and the future of these Territories will far exceed those two States. It is true that California may produce more and continue to have a larger carrying trade than either of these States but her commercial prosperity is connected with the ocean trade, and must always drift in that direction, whilst [illegible] is inland and must pass over this great thoroughfare. We are aware that most people will see the necessity and expediency of these connecting lines of railroad when the steamboats which we have spoken of shall be in successful operation, and these portages traveled with teams from one end to the other, and the slowest [illegible] in the world can see it when the Pacific Railroad is completed. But we trust there is energy and enterprise enough in our people when the question is fairly canvassed to take hold of it and carry it on to completion by the time the Pacific Railroad shall reach Salt Lake. Government is aiding the Pacific Road and if we invoke the aid of the Government there is no reason why we should not receive as much for this branch of the road. Government pays sixteen thousand dollars per mile and every alternate section of land for twenty miles each side of the road. There will be a bill before Congress this winter to pay ten thousand dollars more per mile, which will [illegible] to be paid. The building of this branch road is only a question of time. Shall we build it and have the benefit of it, or shall we wait for our children or those who come after us to do the work? We say build it ourselves and let us lay the foundation by making a survey, procuring a charter and securing the aid of the Government. Now is an [illegible] time."

A recent exhibit of the gold exports from California the past year shows a falling off of over $10,000,000 [illegible] corresponding period last year. The total amount since Jan. 1st, 1865, is given at $[illegible] For all of [illegible] 1864, the total was $40,[illegible] showing a deficiency of $10,563,847 25. The abuses in relation to the management of mines is given as the most probable cause of the decrease. Many of the mines are said to be encumbered with litigation, and much machinery and valuable real estate has been sacrificed to liquidate indebtedness of badly managed concerns. The subject of mining [illegible] has become generally agitated in various sections, having in view the object of doing away with the evils complained of. The mines of [illegible] are now but in their infancy, and to avoid the shoals and quicksands of adversity our people must [illegible] and will be found [illegible] any attempt at swindling, and will [illegible] In New York only those mining interests are dealt in that are known to be valuable, and in this regard investments are said to be safe and [illegible]

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
